

1. A blade for a bladed rotor, the blade having an attachment receivable in a slot of a rotor hub, the attachment having proximal and distal ends, the proximal end
5 being rounded.

2. A bladed rotor, comprising:
a hub having a main body with peripheral slots; and a plurality of blades each having an attachment occupying 10 one of the slots, each attachment having proximal and distal ends, the proximal end of each blade attachment being rounded.